7 things you should know

Quality Accreditation Program

1 What is it?

The ASAP Quality Program is the leading global quality assessment, reporting, recognition, and accreditation system for the corporate housing sector of the hospitality industry. The Quality Program is delivered by ISAAP (International Serviced Apartment Accreditation Programme).

2 What does it do?

The Program assesses providers' units against more than 250 service quality, regulatory and safety criteria. These criteria focus on guest expectations in the hospitality industry, updated periodically to remain relevant. The process delivers quantitative and qualitative information to the operator. This in-depth analysis may be used to enhance elements of the provider's business with the ultimate aim of maximising the perceived quality of the guest experience. Accreditation is awarded to those providers which attain the necessary level of compliance to the assessment criteria. The Program also offers an accreditation opportunity for corporate housing agents.

3 How does it do this?

Professional ISAAP quality assessors use a well-tested and successful process of assessing a sample of the provider's inventory by mirroring the guest experience. Areas assessed include guest experience, housekeeping & maintenance, exterior & arrival, living/dining Room, bedroom(s), bathroom(s), kitchen, and additional facilities. Additionally criteria such as decoration standard, furnishings, lighting, heating, ventilation and space are also considered. Assessors conduct a detailed overnight assessment by staying in one of the provider's units, followed by up to 9 further unit assessments the next day. Each individual unit assessment takes 30-45 minutes to complete. Assessment scores and comments are based on the provider's communications about their units, actual online reviews and guest evaluations, as well as adherence to applicable safety and operational regulations.

4 What is the output?

The day after the overnight assessment, the assessor meets with the provider to offer real-time observations and feedback. Within 7 days of assessment completion, the provider will receive a full assessment report for all units assessed. The assessment report contains descriptive feedback, numerical scores and a graph showing unit quality versus competitive set performance compiled of aggregate scores from other providers in the same or similar market.

If all of the quality criteria have been met, the provider will receive the ASAP Quality Accreditation Marque. This Marque can be displayed on the provider's website and PR materials for 1 year. The assessors will identify any non-compliance issues during the assessment process and will provide guidance and assistance to the provider so that the accreditation marque can be awarded as soon as possible.

5 How does the Program retain industry relevance?

Bi-annually, the assessment criteria are reviewed to ensure continued importance and relevance and also to include new industry legal requirements and variations in international applications. This review allows for continued integrity and credibility of the Program and ensures it continues to be delivered in the correct industry context, thus preserving the value of The ASAP Quality Accreditation Marque.
